WHY IT MATTERS

The Sunday Service 95 provides an important connection for residents and visitors across North Cornwall.

The service is subsidised and, like many rural bus routes, faces ongoing financial challenges.

Passenger numbers help demonstrate its value and support the case for future investment.

PUBLIC TRANSPORT SERVICES CAN ONLY BE SUSTAINED IF THEY ARE USED.

Put simply, if we want to keep services like this for future years, we need to support them now.

Every journey helps to build the case for continued investment in rural and coastal transport.
